We have just been notified this afternoon that the Aquind proposal has been accepted for examination by the planning inspectorate

You can view the acceptance letter on the PINS website using the following link

<https://infrastructure.planninginspectorate.gov.uk/projects/south-east/aquind-interconnector/>

This means we now move toward into the examination stage.

When the application details are fully uploaded and available for people to view I will let everyone know.

It looks like a busy start to 2020 as the examination gathers pace.
